

Erin Biesecker

she/they

Communications Coordinator

Erin will be a third-year student in the Counseling Psychology PhD program at the University of Louisville. She earned her BA in Psychology and minored in English at William & Mary. Their research and clinical interests include depression and anxiety in LGBTQIA+ youth. Erin is a member of the American Psychological Association (including APAGS and Div. 17) and the Kentucky Psychological Association (including KPAGS), and serves on multiple committees (KPA ethics committee, KPA communications committee, APA Div 17 section on LGBTQIA+). Erin loves their clinical work especially, and is obnoxiously close with their UofL cohort. Erin is also dedicated to other pursuits such as reading, rowing with the Louisville masters club, snuggling her dog, hiking/backpacking, and being a supportive friend and partner.
