
Brooke Threlkeld, Psy.D.

Brief Bio:

I joined the University of Louisville School of Medicine Department of Pediatrics in 2014 and currently serve in clinical roles in the divisions of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry and Psychology as well as Child Neurology, where I conduct individual/family therapy, consultation with families and child neurology providers, and psychodiagnostic assessment services. I am also the Co-Director of the University of Louisville School of Medicine Child Clinical and Pediatric Psychology Doctoral Internship Program and the ULP Bingham Clinic Psychological Testing Service. Prior to my current position I was a Post-doctoral Fellow at Nationwide Children's Hospital and Pre-doctoral Intern at the Children's Hospital of Michigan. I received my Psy.D. from Spalding University in 2013.

As a Board Member, what do you find the most rewarding - or what are you most hoping to accomplish?:

I most appreciate opportunities to connect with colleagues.

How did you end up in psychology?:

A longstanding interest in human behavior and a persistent desire to work with children and families – as well as a lot of good fortune and supportive mentorship. I feel very grateful to be a psychologist in the roles that I serve.
